FORFEITS POSTED FOR BIG INTERNATIONAL BATTLE

Garden A. C.'s $2,000 and Matt Wells's $1,000 Already Up, While Packey McFarland's $1,000 Is Expected to Be Posted To-Day.

st, 1912, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York World). GE M'DONALD and Tim Hurst came in.

The manager of Matt Wells and the manager of the Garden A. C. Neither spoke a word. Tim Hurst, with a sort of doesn'tthis surprise you grin, reached into the side pocket of his trousers—the left-hand side and pulled out thick yellow roll. "Here's two thousand dollarscount it," said Tim. Therewith he planked the roll down with a thud, and Jimmy, the office boy, fell over two chairs. George McDonald, also with a grin, dug up from somewhere in his clothes a small packet, and taking out two certified checks, each for $500, dropped them beside the bale

"Forfeits," explained Hurst, "Mc-Farland wired that he wanted to have you hold the money for his match with Wells on the 26th-so here are our forfeits. If you telese Billy Gibson he'll send down McFarland's check for a thousand."

O with no further fuss the forfeits for the big fight were posted. The conditions governing the posting of forfeits are these;

The Garden A. C. posts $2,000. McFarland and Wells each post $1,000. The Garden's money is to be forfeited to the boxers, $1,000 to each, if the Garden fails to go through with its contract and stage the bout. The forfeits of the fighters go for weight and appearance, and in case either falls on one of these conditions his money is to be divided between the other boxer and the club.

The weight is to be 125 pounds at 3 e'clock on the afternoon of the bout, the men to be in the ring at 10 o'clock that night ready to go on with the bout.

the men to be in the ring at 10 o'clock that night ready to go on with the bout.

McFarland's end of the purse is to be sin, which sum is fixed, whether pictures are taken of the bout or not. Wells and his managers, it is explained, are of a more speculative turn of mind. They have a percentage arrangement on both gate and pictures (should pictures be taken).

Says this will never occur under the present management.

Said he: "We have put the prices low, ranging from $1 a seet in the galleries to $5 for ringside and $10 for ringside box seats. We have plenty of room and everybody can see the bout from any part of the Garden. We expect a great crowd that will pack the house, We will have a very small number of

It is on a with a seat ticket will be put under guard, and nobody who isn't provided thing in the morning and turned to you. That is, providing Packey signed. He hear't notified me yet."

The international League got away to that there can't be any confusion in a good start. Three out of the four packets are all sold the doors will be put under any circumstances. There won't be any crowding, and we've arranged for efficient handling of the crowd, so that there can't be any confusion in a good start. Three out of the four a good start. Three out of the four packets will see a little floor space that will give a view with. Three of the Four Opening out interfering with the other spectators can be used. When the tickets are all sold the doors will be put under guard, and nobody who isn't provided with a seat ticket will be admitted to the phone.

Hero of Boston Classic Didn't Impress Irish-American A. C. Trainers When He Joined the Club About Five Years Ago.

BOUT five years ago a raw, in experienced youth of eighteen en-rolled himself as an athlete at the Irish-American Athletic Club. At first he did not greatly impress the trainers but he stuck to his determination to make good and to-day it is upon him that America pins practically all hope of winning the Marathon, admittedly the most spectacular event of the coming Olympic Games. His name is Michael J. Ryan.

Mike Ryan is twenty-three years old, a product of the east side, lifelong friend and neighbor of Johnnie Hayes, the hero of the last Olympic Marathon. It was from Hayes that he received his inspiration to become a long distance

It was from Hayes that he received his inspiration to become a long distance runner, and it was also from Hayes that he received most of his coaching. While Ryan in recent years has always performed consistently and was looked upon by athletes as one of the best long distance men in the game, the public at large has not realised his great ability. It remained for the american Marathon at Boston yesterday, which Ryan not only won but also, under the most advarse conditions, established a new record for the classic, to demonstrate that the New York youngster is probably one of the best Marre-coners in the world, and if the sandy-haired Celt is not in front at Stockholm this summer his host of friends and admirers will be greatly surprised. RYAN SET A NEW MARK IN

CANADIAN MARATHON. ng his apprenticeship in the run-

During his apprenticeship in the running game Ryan figured in many creditable performances on the cinder path, but it was not until two years ago that he achieved anything more than local fame. This was at Hamilton, Ont, in May, 1919, when he won the Canadian Marathon, and incidentally set a new mark. Last year he went abroad and ran second in the Polytechnic Harriers' Marathon. In this country and canadian marathon, in this country his principal entry was in the Boston Marathon, in which he finished in inth last year, but he became so well ninth last year, but he became so well himself to "short-distance" racing, principally the six-mile run, in an effort to develop speed. The message was intended to be delivered to the Gotham speed marvel before the race started, but owing to the fact that it wasn't received at the club in time there wasn't any way of getting it to him until the conclusion of the great running event. The message from Hayes read:

"Go to it, old boy, and bring ho me the bacon."

After reading the message Ryan said:

"I owe my victory to Hayes. I did most of my training for the race under his direction. In fact, everything I know about the Marathon game I owe to the little chap who carried off the honors in the last Olympic race at London. For weeks he went out on the road and worked with me and I read ing is as much a part of his life as eating and sleeping.

The youngster's victory yesterday was a particularly popular one, for there are few of the younger athletes in New York who have a more loyal or admiring following. Already there is a movement on foot to make Ryan's chances of victory at Stockholm the better by sending him over before the rest of the team starts. This would mean much to him, for it would give him a chance to become thoroughly acclimated and riso acquainted with the course over which the classic run will take place.

Covered with mud from head to foot, Ryan staggered across the finish line in front of the Boston A. A. club house on Exeter street, winner of the six-
